Our Community's Demographics

Atrium Health Floyd Medical Center is committed to the health of the people who live, work and visit our service area. Atrium Health Floyd completed its most recent Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA) in June 2019 to provide a snapshot of the health of Atrium Health Floyd's primary service area. The assessment was developed in compliance with IRS 501(r) guidelines, incorporating input from community stakeholders and public health experts. The data used to determine community health needs was taken from publicly reported health information and internally generated statistical information.

Polk County encompasses 310.34 square miles in northwest Georgia. The predominantly rural area has an estimated population of 42,613 (2019).

Poverty, Income and Employment: The poverty rate in Polk County is 21.8%.

In FY18, 40% of Atrium Health Floyd Medical Center and Atrium Health Floyd Polk Medical Center's patient populations were covered by Medicare, and 19% of patients were covered by Medicaid. FY18 statistics for Atrium Health Floyd Cherokee Medical Center were not available in time for the 2019 Community Health Needs Assessment.

Health Care Providers: There is a wide variance in the availability of primary care physicians and mental health providers in the northwest Georgia and northeast Alabama region. This disparity in availability in the more rural counties translates to community perception of health and availability of care for residents. The rates of primary care physicians per 100,000 residents are:

- Floyd County – 135.33 per 100,000
- Polk County – 31.6 per 100,000
- Cherokee County, Alabama – 27 per 100,000
- Chattooga County – 4.01 per 100,000.

Social Service Resources: There is a robust social service sector and invaluable support and services provided by non-profit, faith-based and community-based organizations. There is, however, a gap in the awareness of available services. There is general concern that there is a lack of broad-based impactful communication, transportation and general access to these services.

Education: Area schools and colleges are assets with good access to a quality education from preschool through college. The percentage of Polk County residents who graduated high school or have a general education development (GED) certificate is 79.1%.

The rate of residents with a bachelor's degree in Polk County is 12.2%.

Summary of Community Health Needs

By viewing the prevalence of chronic diseases in relation to indicators (e.g., poor diet and exercise) and outcomes (e.g., high rates of obesity and diabetes), causal associations emerge, allowing a better understanding of how certain community health needs may be addressed. In reviewing these alongside secondary data sources, surveys and focus groups, community health needs emerge:

- Access to care
- Cardiovascular disease
- Mental and behavioral health
- Nutrition and wellness

Access to Medical Care and Prevention Services: Access to care is a primary concern. Despite the expansion of health care coverage, financial, transportation and linguistic barriers prevent some residents from receiving care in a timely and consistent manner. A significant portion of the population does not qualify for Medicaid coverage and does not have the resources to purchase health care insurance on the federal exchange. Approximately 18.8% percent of the residents of Polk County are uninsured. Transportation combined with few health care providers, particularly in rural communities, prevents residents from getting to appointments. And, there are gaps in the awareness of available services to assist with access.

Cardiovascular Disease: Cardiovascular disease is a significant health care issue for the community. The mortality rate from cardiovascular disease per 100,000 residents in Polk County is 331. Coronary heart disease is a leading cause of death in the United States. Contributing factors include obesity, tobacco use, high blood pressure, high cholesterol levels and lack of physical activity. The mortality rate in 2019 for African American residents for major cardiology disease in Polk County is shockingly higher than the state average: 418.1 (198.4 higher than the state average).

And, cost of care for patients requiring open heart surgery is a prohibitive obstacle. The only provider of open-heart surgery in the service area has rates that are the third-highest in the state ($99,771 higher than the state average). This is recognized by the Department of Community Health as a significant barrier to open heart surgery. (2019, DCH OHS Survey Database)

Diabetes: The prevalence of diabetes in the four-county primary service area ranges from 15% in Floyd County to 12% in Chattooga County. In the Medicare population, these rates begin to show changes in prevalence with a 32.3% rate in Polk County.

Mental and Behavioral Health: Mental health services are a pervasive community health need. Diagnoses range from stress and depression to attention deficit disorders and schizophrenia. Primary care physicians have begun to ask patients depression-related questions and reported rates of depression of risen in the Medicare population since these questions were added to wellness exams. In Polk County, that rate is 24 percent.

Nutrition: Good nutrition is vital to good health, disease prevention and healthy growth and development of children and adolescents. A lack of access to healthy foods is a barrier to healthy eating habits, and low-income and underserved areas often have limited access to healthy foods. In addition, people living farther away from grocery stores are less likely to have access to healthy food options and, thus, are more likely to consume less healthy, more convenient food options. This is exacerbated in the summer months when children do not have daily access to school breakfast and lunch programs. In Polk County, the food insecurity rate is 13 percent.

An Entire System Working Together

Access to care, cardiovascular disease, mental health services and healthy nutrition disease were determined in the 2019 CHNA to be significant concerns that affect many residents. The distribution of behaviors and health outcomes consistently follow social and economic patterns. Furthermore, some barriers to accessing care continue to prevent current programs and initiatives from reaching the populations in need. These challenges present important opportunities for the future. As we move forward as an integrated community of health care, social service and community leadership, we can leverage community assets to improve the health of residents in Polk County. Following are the key community health needs identified by Atrium Health Floyd that will serve as the guide for this implementation plan.

Together, Atrium Health Floyd Medical Center, Atrium Health Floyd Polk Medical Center and Atrium Health Floyd Cherokee Medical Center provide more than $50 million in free medical services to uninsured and underinsured patients. In addition, Atrium Health Floyd offers discounted medical services including financial counseling, indigent prescriptions and operation of the Floyd County Clinic for that county's uninsured and underemployed population.

Providing a Helping Hand: Charity Care and Community Benefits

Perhaps most significant in meeting community health needs is the continuing commitment of Atrium Health Floyd Polk Medical Center to provide comprehensive health care services to all individuals regardless of ability to pay. In FY 2022, $7,332,002 in unreimbursed care was delivered to individuals in the form of traditional charity care and through public programs and services. The value of all community benefit activities combined totaled $2,337,992.

Indigent care is the care provided to individuals who live in a family whose combined income falls below 125 percent of the federal poverty level for a family of a specific size. Currently, a family of four with a total annual family income of less than $33,125 is eligible for indigent care. Patients who qualify as indigent receive their hospital services at no cost to them.

Charity care is the medical care provided to low-income patients at a discounted rate. Atrium Health Floyd hospitals discount hospital charges on a sliding scale for patients whose combined family income falls between 125 percent and 400 percent of the federal poverty level for uninsured families of a specific size. The limit for insured families is 400 percent of the federal poverty level. For example, an individual living in a family of four with a total annual family income of $106,800 is eligible for a discount of 70 percent.

Of those, 882 patients were past due for a mammogram, 194 women had never had a mammogram before, and 130 screenings revealed an abnormality that required further testing. And, 4 women were diagnosed with cancer as a result of their visit to the mobile mammography coach. The goal of this program is to reach women who have never had a mammogram, in hope of reducing the breast cancer mortality rate in our region, which is among the highest in the nation. The coach traveled 10,094 miles in FY 2022 to women in seven Georgia counties and two Alabama counties to make mammography and clinical breast exams convenient for them.
